

Ceiling Casing Window 55"

This updated HI-ND ceiling casing window is designed to be used for high brightness screens. We have moved the air ventilation from the back cover to the side which creates a more clean design and allows for an analogue print on the back side. Installation of the screens and service access is done from the backside to make sure the screens can be installed close to a window.

Black and white color as standard
 All cables are hidden
 Service access from the backside
